Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 13 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fine and very warm with sunshine.

Today:
A fine day, with lengthy periods of sunshine across the region. Feeling very warm given the light winds, with temperatures widely in the mid-twenties degrees Celsius. Maximum temperature 26 deg C (79 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining fine and warm during the evening. A band of cloud should move southwards later in the night, eventually introducing slightly cooler conditions and perhaps the odd spot of rain. Minimum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Monday:
Rather cloudy at first for many, however soon brightening up to further sunny spells. Feeling a little fresher than on Sunday, with a westerly breeze also developing. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Warm and fine Tuesday, and perhaps initially Wednesday, ahead of cloudier conditions and perhaps a little rain making inroads from the northwest, possibly giving way to more showery conditions Thursday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.